

Author Full Name : C LReceived Date : 03/07/2025 05:26 AMComments Received :

"This serves no functional purpose other than cruelty and will cause immense inconvenience to all, both citizens and anyone handling passports. I had blue eyes at birth, but my eyes became green as I got older - would this law also dictate that my passport say my eyes are blue? No, that would be equally as ridiculous and inconvenient. A person's birth sex is completely irrelevant in any situation that a passport would involve.

The purpose of the data on a passport is to verify the person's identity, not to humiliate and endanger them. This is ridiculous, cruel, a waste of everyone's time and has no place in a civilized country."