I am opposed to requiring sex be stated on passports at all. I do not believe that it should be necessary to provide documentation regarding sex assigned at birth, nor do I believe government documents should be required to list sex at all. Sex should only be of concern between a person and their doctor, otherwise there is far too high of a risk of discrimination. In addition, all human beings start out in the womb as female, they only transition to male when their mothers' body exposes them to male hormones during pregnancy. All human beings are female from the start, it is men who transition en masse and it is men who are attempting to now force trans people to list their sexes falsely in an attempt to allow for the greater ease of discrimination of non-men. The American people deserve better from our government, and we deserve to be freed from the tyranny of sex-based discrimination. Men deserve to be seen as men, irrespective of their origin; women and all other people deserve the same.

I support removing sex markers entirely from passports and all forms of government documentation. They do not serve any purpose but to curtail freedoms for specific people, and the people of America deserve better than to be judged for something as reductive as their sex. Let people be judged based on the content of their character, not their bodies. Thank you.
