Every citizen deserves a U.S. passport that matches who they are to ensure they can safely travel, obtain employment, interact with law enforcement, and go about their daily lives without fear of harassment, undue scrutiny, and discrimination.

It is a burden on passport applicants to be asked for evidence of their biological sex at birth, and a waste of government time and resources to require State Department employees to research this information. It is none of the federal government's business to track down these private details about us.

This puts US citizens in danger. And already, trans and non-binary people are at a greater risk of being harmed and even killed. And for what? So an already marginalized group can be used to win political points.

Who will be next?
