

Author Full Name : AnonymousReceived Date : 03/10/2025 09:43 PMComments Received :

The actions of the new executive order limiting my ability as a transgender man to change my sex to match that of my body and presentation is a risk to my safety, and challenges my career goals. I am supposed to begin diplomacy work in various nations where being visibly trans is illegal and/or unsafe this summer, and without my documents changed, I will either have to risk my wellbeing to pursue my dream and important work (through travel, which is also something any US citizen should be able to do, naturally) or give up my hard earned achievements and find minimum wage work while I sort out my next steps. So not only is this executive order irrational and counterintuitive, but it forces me to make choices that, if experienced by other human beings, would be considered unjust and cruel. I hope that the voices of those of us with little option are heard by the people who can advocate for us. Thank you.