The Executive Order to disallow a person to change their gender on their passport to match their gender identity not only infringes on their rights, it exposes citizens to potential abuse. The purpose of a passport is to facilitate travel to foreign countries, and also return to the U.S.

If a person is obviously of one gender, but the passport says otherwise, are they going to check their genitalia? I certainly would not want that. The change interferes with the pursuit of happiness, and causes an already at-risk group to be further marginalized.
