Transgender, intersex and non-binary citizens need accurate and consistent IDs so that they can live safely and authentically. This is especially important when traveling. Without accurate documents, it's incredibly challenging or even impossible to open bank accounts, start new jobs, enroll in school, travel, or safely interact with law enforcement. US Passports should continue to include information on an individual's gender. This should NOT be limited to the sex assigned at birth, which may not be relevant to the individual's current gender.
