Denying trans people accurate passports would expose them to violence and discrimination anytime they have to show ID and keep them from traveling safely. It would impact every element of participating in public life – from flying, opening bank accounts, to enrolling in school, and more.

This is a waste of resources. This administration is determined to cut the federal workforce to save money but willing to spend money on this ridiculous idea

No one benefits from this and many will be harmed, including transgender and intersex people and their families.

Transgender people applying for passports has not been a problem in the past....why make a solution for a non problem
