To whom it may concern,

Like everyone else, I know what it's like to be treated with hostility for things you can't control. Unlike the bullies that treated me poorly, I don't think you're malignant - I think you just don't understand others. I support our country through its many faults and my community relies daily on the freedom our government provides. Why should our gender be an exception to that? I'll never forget the panicked face of my friend as he told me he couldn't find gender affirming surgery. We're tired of our rights being stripped from us. Don't make another mistake.

Thank you.
