

Author Full Name : AnonymousReceived Date : 03/19/2025 01:34 PMComments Received :

Do you think it is safe for a transgender person to have gender/sex marker on their passport that doesn't match their appearance? You can define the difference between sex and gender, however by this administration's definitions, sex means what sexual organs you're born with. What is the harm in using gender instead? Isn't it a little perverted by using sex, disclosing someone's sexual organs? I have undergone gender conforming surgery from female to male. You state that this is to protect females in bathrooms? My passport says male but said female over 10 years ago. You're forcing a female sex marker on my passport when I appear very male with a thick beard and muscular. You're forcing me to use female bathrooms in federal buildings because that's the federal law? I highly doubt women will be comfortable with my almost 6ft muscular build and a thick beard walking into the ladies room because you force female on my passport. Oh well. As you wish.