the idea of killing flocks of 1000 chickens when some of them may be able to resistt the virus and be stronger as a result gets short shrift and itneeds to be established right now. killing them all will never find a ay for some of them with stronger constitions to fight off the virus and be strongers and produce stronger next generations. this operation by aphis is stupid, nobody can get ahead like this. the chickens are in bad shape because they h ave been treated like widgetss in a factory by their selfish greedy profiteers allowed by usda that considers the poor birds factory widgets only and solely as if you can keep a living body alive in that kind of horrible stress filled factory farm. same with the cows which are treated abysmally with being pregnant year after year after year no breaks losing their babies immediately upon birth to stress them out and then sending the babies to live in concrete little shacksdold as can be no loving mother. this agency is causing animals to hate being alive, producing nothing that would want them want to live. this agency is the pits. usda is the pits. usda needs to be shut down because of irts absyamal abuse of animals. it casues illness. we could have healthy animals if they got sun, outside to breath air that is clearer, get clean water when they need it, etc. the process of food production with them being killed so early in their lives and they are vulnerable. the entire way usda treats animals is a horror to behold. it gets worse and worse every year.
