This agency collection should not be renewed due to the legal aspects of funds being released to an unauthorized persons or entities, without a proper validation process. The potential for the government to lose funds by criminal actors are greater than if the award was released in another more protected fund transfer category. The cost savings would benefit the government substantially with savings from a more efficient means of providing funding versus a paper voucher, the number of internal employees having to process the paper voucher, and the total expense for the overall processing of the vouchers combined.
