

Author Full Name : Kelly Moore

Received Date : 07/12/2025 01:29 PM

Comments Received :

2120-0760

This agency collection should be extended for the purposes of regulatory disclosures needed for aircraft travel according to the FAA's safety standards. Families need to have the dimensions of seat availability in ensure their children will be properly secured for air travel accordingly. Most child seat restraints under the Motor Vehicles Safety Administration are designed for compatibility with the existing aircraft's seating, and are intended for use by the public. The child safety of the aircraft is addressed appropriately in this matter.