I believe it is a bad idea. You are giving the manufacturers of these ELD'S free advertising thru the federal government. No doubt the feds will receive some kind of kick for the free advertising they are giving. I have a better idea make a set of rules minimum requirements for these ELD'S and make them know and if the manufacturer doesn't follow them then fine the manufacturer just like you would the driver or carrier or better yet put them out of service. Oh wait I almost forgot Qualcomm who is the biggest manufacturer of these ELD'S is also in tight with President Obama.
