General Comment

Dear CFPB,

I oppose this information collection request. There has to be a ton of papers published by economists and social scientists on the financial education and behavior of the populace. Go do some research before tormenting the general population with yet other information request. Such requests flow out of the Federal Register like Niagra Falls on a daily basis. So much for the paperwork reduction act.

As a taxpayer, I am also adamantly opposed to financial incentives for information collection. There is already inordinate income transfer from me to others; I don't need more federal organs trying to increase it.

The Financial Protection this Consumer needs is from the Federal government.
