I am speaking at a LISA life settlement conference next week and have been following the regulation bouncing ball, the proposed forms, comment letters responding to Notice 2018-41, etc.

Can you offer any insights I can share about when regs will be published for comment and other updates.

I'd also like to offer my availability to respond to any rifle-shot questions you may have. I work extensively in virtually all phases of the life settlement space and am more than willing to share that experience with you. I don't represent insurers, although I have to admit I understand their pain caused by multiple reports they may have to file as the requirements kick in.
