Thank you for the update.

I do not see any question asking about the "percentage of inaccurate dispositions between the court record and the repository"? The closest question is found in Section 1, question 15.

I see the time for comments has passed- is it possible to get my previous e-mails included as a "comment" asking about the importance of reporting the percentage of inaccurate dispositions found as a result of the question found in Section 1, question 15? My tardiness is not a result of lack of due diligence on my part?

Again, 5 USC 9101(e)(4) is relying upon accurate information from the repositories (as fed to the FBI) and it is important for people to know the "quality" or "reliability" of the information being relied upon to complete federal government background checks.

Respectfully,

Hello.

I am sorry for the delay. I am working to get you a clean copy of the survey instrument from our data collection agent. I will nudge them about it again today.

Thank you for your patience.

Good Morning-

I have not received any reply to my December 6, 2018 e-mail? Can you update me as to my request?

Thank you.

Good Afternoon-

I would like to make a formal comment related to this notice, published in the Federal Register on 10/31/2018 by the Dept. of Justice:

Agency Information Collection Activities; Proposed eCollection eComments Requested; Revision of a Currently Approved Collection: 2018-2020 Survey of State Criminal History Information Systems (SSCHIS)

Can you forward me info on:

--- the proposed information collection instrument (with instructions)

--- any information included in the "Survey" that will examine the accuracy of reported disposition data (e.g., are prosecutors reporting the same information as recorded in the state court record/docket? are state courts reporting the same information electronically that is contained in the state court paper docket? etc...).

--- any information contained in the "Survey" addressing the importance of accurate disposition data (especially as related to 5 USC 9101(e)(4)--- "shall be the full and complete criminal history record.")

Thank you
