one has to wonder why we cant come up with a cheaper way to make sure hospitals and mammography centers ae following requirements. this has a huge pricestag associated with it and at present it really isnt providing that the usa has the latest best most reliable mammography equipment. for example, hunterdon medical center in nj has mammography equipment that gives a terrile picture as compared to machines in use in europe. we need to figure out a cheaper way to encourage and mdndae that all providers cannot operate unless they provide decent equipment and operattors.
