SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is the Federal government's lead agency for protecting the health of all Americans and providing essential human services. HHS enhances the health and well-being of Americans by promoting effective health and human services and by fostering sound, sustained advances in the sciences underlying medicine, public health, and social services.

This Agenda presents the regulatory activities that the Department expects to undertake in the foreseeable future to advance this mission. The purpose of the Agenda is to encourage more effective public participation in the regulatory process. The regulatory actions forecasted in this Agenda reflect the priorities of HHS Secretary Robert F. Kennedy Jr. and the Donald J. Trump Administration. Accordingly, this Agenda contains rulemakings aimed at making America healthy again! To achieve this goal, this Agenda shows a commitment to managing chronic disease; eliminating unnecessary administrative expenses and rent-seeking practices that increase healthcare costs; battling obesity; ensuring the safety and efficacy of our vaccines; protecting the religious liberty of our medical workforce; and standing up for the health and well-being of biological women, children, and families, among other policy priorities.

The rulemaking abstracts included in this paper issue of the Federal Register cover, as required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980, those prospective HHS rulemakings likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The Department's complete Regulatory Agenda is accessible online at <http://www.RegInfo.gov>.
